

PAUL TOLD THE TRUTH ABOUT JESUS

1 CORINTHIANS 15

Paul worried about the people in the church at Corinth. Some of them seemed to be confused about Jesus. There were people stirring up trouble in the church and asking questions. Paul knew he needed to tell the people to work together to learn and believe the truth about Jesus and what happened to Him.

Paul reminded the people in the church that the gospel message—the good news—was clear: Jesus died for us, and God made Jesus live again. Many people had seen Jesus alive again. This good news was for all people.

Paul wrote in his letter to the church friends many reasons the people must believe the truth about Jesus. Paul explained how people who love Jesus and believe in Him will get to live with God forever. Paul said, “Friends, we will be changed, and we will be like Jesus. We give thanks to God for this!”

Paul encouraged the church friends to continue to work together to do God’s work and do their best.
