2 KINGS 5:1-15

Naaman was an important man, a commander in the king's army. But Naaman was not well. He had sores on his body. No one could help him.

A young servant girl helped Naaman's wife. One day the girl said, "I wish that Naaman would go visit a man from the place where I was born. The man's name is Elisha, and he is one of God's prophets. Elisha knows how Naaman can get better and be well."

Naaman's wife told Naaman what the servant girl said. When Naaman heard the news, he hurried to see Elisha.

When Naaman arrived at Elisha's house, Elisha did not greet him. Instead Elisha sent a messenger to talk to Naaman. The man told Naaman, "Elisha said for you to go to the Jordan River and wash seven times. Then you will be well. The sores will be gone from your body."

At first, Naaman did not believe this would help. He got angry because he thought Elisha should come out and pray for Naaman.

But the people with Naaman told him he should follow Elisha's directions.

So Naaman went to the river. He washed his body one, two, three times, but Naaman still had sores. Naaman washed four, five, six times, but he still had sores. Naaman washed one more time, the seventh time. He looked at his body. He did not see any more sores! He was well!

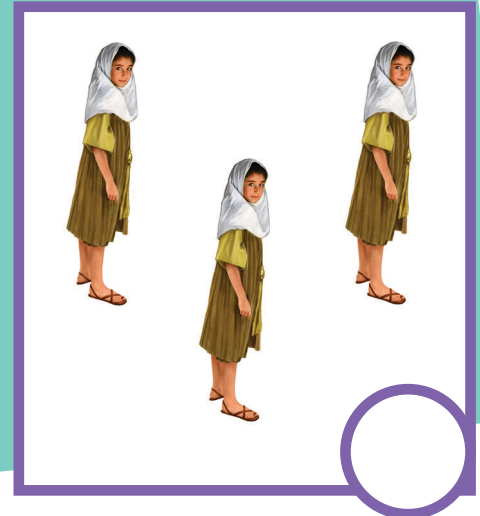

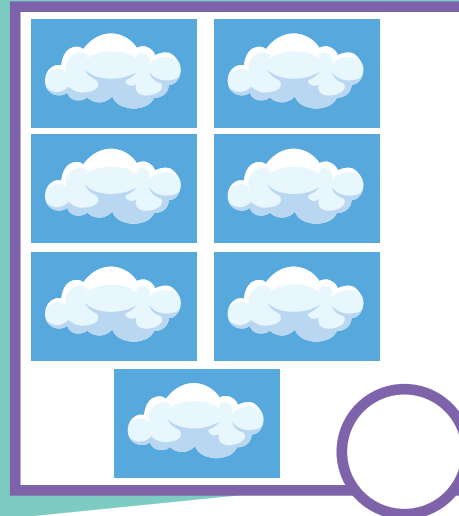

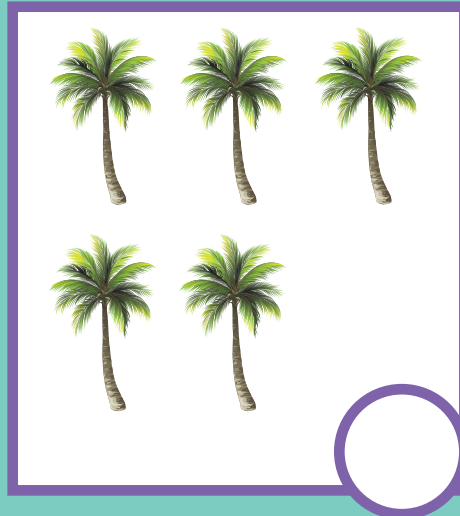

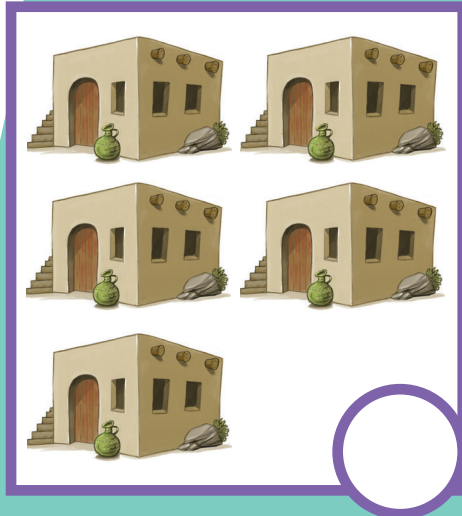

Naaman ran back to thank Elisha. Naaman said, "I know there's no God in the whole world except in Israel."
